Innovative Recruiting Methods

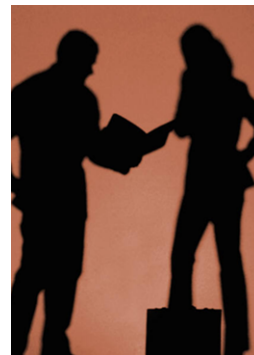

Managing the ever changing recruiting needs of your organization can be puzzling. Many times the ideal person for the position is either a passive or semi-active candidate requiring innovative recruiting methods to gain their interest. Our search and placement techniques are tailored to meet your job specific requirements.

Customized Recruitment Solutions

Marshall Group consultants work with your team to develop a customized recruitment solution to meet your needs and objectives. Our consultants review your inventory of open positions, gain an understanding of individual department goals and overall corporate strategies, ensure consideration is given to succession planning, and review internal processes to develop a recruitment solution tailored to your organization.

Performance Profiling

To attract top high-caliber passive and semi-active candidates, Marshall Group consultants work with your team to develop job specific performance profiles. Our recruiting method not only attracts top candidates but also reduces the cost associated with mis-hires; ensuring a good corporate fit.

Global Reach

The Marshall Group proprietary enterprise database with multi-channel sourcing gives you access to top candidates world-wide.
